Commissions

On settlement of a loan or issuance of a risk insurance policy, we usually receive commission from the applicable product provider. The commission is generally of an upfront nature but may also include a renewal or trail commission.

This commission is used to remunerate the financial adviser that provides the advice, and to pay the expenses associated with running our business including any rent, staff costs and IT resources. From this commission we also pay NZ Financial Services Group Limited for services they provide to us in connection with our authorisation under their licence from the Financial Markets Authority.

We take steps to ensure that the receipt of commissions does not influence the advice we give to you and that our advisers prioritise your interests by recommending the best product for your purpose regardless of the type and amount of commission we or they may receive. We do this by:

- Ensuring our advisers follow an advice process that ensures they understand your needs and goals and that their recommendations regarding loan products or insurance cover meets those needs and goals.
- Ensuring our advisers receive annual training on how to manage conflicts of interest.
- Providing you with a schedule showing commission rates and types by product provider.

This schedule is contained within each Financial Adviser's personalised Disclosure Guide. A Financial Adviser will provide you with more information about commissions during the advice process.

We may also receive commission from product providers we refer you to. This may be paid as a percentage of their share of an initial commission paid to them or a one off fee or a percentage of their share of any ongoing commission.

Fees or Expenses

Generally we don't charge you any fee for the advice and transactional solutions that we provide to you. This is possible because, on settlement of a loan or issuance of a risk insurance policy, we usually receive commission from the applicable product provider as described above. There are some exceptions to this general position which are explained below.

Adviser Fee:

Some lenders I deal with will charge a fee which is capitalised (or added) to the amount of your loan. This fee is normally calculated as a percentage of your loan at drawdown. This fee is then paid to me by the lender, in lieu of or in addition to any commission payment I receive from that lender. If I recommend to you a loan with a lender where this fee applies, I will let you know that this fee applies to you and the amount of the fee (or the percentage that the lender will use to calculate the fee).

We may charge you a one-off fee in the following situations:

(a) No commission: If you request that we provide services in relation to a product or service and we do not receive a commission. Any such fee would be agreed and authorised by you in writing before we complete the services and would be based on an estimate of the time spent providing the advice. This may arise in the rare event that you request that we provide services in relation to either a product that is offered by a provider that we do not hold an accreditation with, or a product that is outside our usual arrangements with our product providers.

(b) Repayment of commission: If a product or service provider requires that we repay commission within 28 months of settlement of your mortgage or issuance of your risk insurance policy. Any such fee would be no more than $2,500 (plus GST if any) and would be calculated based on a rate of $250 (plus GST if any) per hour of the financial adviser's time spent providing services to you in connection with the applicable mortgage or insurance. The fee charged will not exceed the amount of commission clawed back from the lender or insurer.

(c) Where other costs are incurred in the process of providing our advice and services to you, you may be liable for these costs. However, we will agree all additional costs with you prior to incurring them.

(d) In the event you use my advisory services and then instruct me not to proceed with an application for the product we've been discussing, I may charge you a one-off fee to cover the cost of my time. Any such fee would be calculated based on a rate of $250 (plus GST, if any) per hour of my time spent providing financial advice to you in connection with the applicable product.

(e) When I don't receive a trail commission payment or a fixed rate rollover fee from the relevant lender, I may charge you a fee to cover the service I will provide to you in relation to obtaining new fixed rates from the lender. If this fee applies I will let you know. My fee would be calculated based on a rate of $250 (plus GST, if any) per hour of my time spent providing the service. I'll provide you with an estimate of how long this will take me.

Should we need to charge you a fee, you will be invoiced, and you will be given 30 days to make payment.

Conflicts of Interest or Other Incentives

We recognise Conflicts of Interest may occur from time to time and we do receive gifts or benefits from time to time from clients, product providers and businesses we refer to. We have set policies in place to manage them when they occur, these policies include:

This can involve a series of meetings prior to finalising our advice. We maintain ongoing relationship with clients, regularly working with them over time to help them meet their goals.
- Any conflicts of interest or incentives are managed via our internal Conflicts of Interest Policy and Gifts Policy. This also includes maintaining registers which are monitored regularly, and additional training is provided as required.

Below are some examples of Conflicts of Interest and Incentives:

- Commission paid to us maybe higher if your lending is refinanced to another lender or your insurance is switched to a new provider.

- We may act for both parties in a separation at the same time or soon after.

- Product providers may offer discounts for use of their systems.
- Product providers may offer subsidised training.
